

IN PREPARATION.

CHRONICLE & DIRECTORY

FOR CHINA, JAPAN, PHILIPPINES, BORNEO, (STRAITS SETTLEMENTS, COCHIN, CHINA, SIAM, &c.)
FOR 1904.

With which is incorporated THE CHINA DIRECTORY.

The issue for 1904 will be the TWENTY-SECOND ANNUAL PUBLICATION, has been considerably extended, both in the Directory proper and in the Appendix. The ports in China, the Malay States, &c., have been added to the former; whilst the latter includes in addition to the usual contents, the Treaty between the United States and China, the new Treaty between France and Annam, and other additions.

THE ALPHABETICAL LIST OF FOREIGN RESIDENTS again has been much increased.

THE CHRONICLE AND DIRECTORY contains the following LITHOGRAPHED MAPS AND PLANS:—
CODE OF SIGNALS IN USE AT VICTORIA PEAK, PLAN OF THE ISLAND OF HONGKONG, PLAN OF THE CITY OF VICTORIA, NEW MAP OF THE FAN PAI SHAN, PLAN OF THE CITY OF CANTON, PLAN OF THE FOREIGN SETTLEMENTS AT SHANGHAI,
PLAN OF YOKOHAMA, PLAN OF MANILA,
PLAN OF SAIGON, MAP OF THE TOWN AND ENVIRONS OF SINGAPORE.

The large Edition consists of over ONE THOUSAND pages of printed matter. It is indispensable in every Mercantile Office in the Far East and will be found a useful and convenient reference for all business and pleasure travellers.

THE CHRONICLE AND DIRECTORY
is published in Two Forms—Complete at $5; or in 100 numbers at 35c.

Orders for Copies may be sent to the Daily Press Office, where it is published, or to the following Agents:—

MACAO.....Messrs. A. de Mello & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.
SINGAPORE.....Messrs. G. S. & Co.

NOTICE.

A. S. WATSON & CO.
FAMILY AND DISPENSARY
CHEMISTS,
By Appointment to His Excellency the Go-VERNOR and His Royal Highness the DUKE OF EDINBURGH, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DRUGGISTS, PENANG.

PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS, DRUGGISTS, SUNDRY,
AND AERATED WATER-MAKERS,
SINGAPORE.

SHIPS' MEDICINE CHESTS REFITTED, PASSENGER SHIPS SUPPLIED.

NOTICE.—To avoid delay in the execution of Orders it is particularly requested that all business communications be addressed to the Firm, A. S. WATSON & CO., or HONGKONG DISPENSARY, 123

The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, JANUARY 2nd, 1904.

The advice brought by the last mail throw some light on the telegram dated the 29th December stating that the French Government was urging the French Government to seize and occupy Hainan, Formosa, or Chusan as a guarantee for the payment by China of an indemnity for the expenses of the war in Tonquin. The agitation raised by the Paris Press on this question evidently arose out of a proposition made by the Paris of the 29th November to the effect that the French should seize the Chinese island of Hainan, "and thus take the Celestial Empire the follies of resisting French demands." The idea of demanding an indemnity was not conceived until after the fall of Sontai.
The Paris contention that the occupation of Hainan by the French would soon induce the Peking Cabinet to withdraw its troops from Tonquin, and would in any way interfere with the considerable European interests which would be compromised by an attack on the Chinese coast. This suggestion is not without force, and might have commended itself to the French Government had their attack on Sontai failed through the opposition of the Chinese.
Probably any such step will, however, now be deferred until after the intended assault on Baochin has been made.
If that town offers a stubborn resistance, and thereby causes great loss to the French, and they find it is defended by Chinese regulars—as stated—it will not be surprising if they make a claim for indemnity for the expenses to which they have been put by the opposition of Chinese troops. But we do not think that the French Government will for one moment entertain the suggestion to occupy China, for reasons given by us the other day arising out of the existence of the Treaty of 1846 concluded by Sir John Davis; nor is it likely that they will attempt to seize Formosa, which is larger and more difficult to hold than Hainan. The latter island, moreover, is close proximity to Tonquin, and could therefore be more easily occupied by the French, who would have little difficulty in effecting a seizure of the ports and capital.

So little is known of the island of Hainan which rendered into English means "South of the Sea"—that for particulars, called from the most recent accounts, may prove interesting at the present moment. The island lies between lat. 18 deg. 10 min. and 20 deg. N. and long. 106 deg. 25 min. and 111 deg. E., and is separated from the Liao-chow peninsula in Kwangtung by the Hainan Straits. It has an estimated area of 12,000 square miles, and the population is roughly set down at about a million. The interior, which consists of lofty mountains, some of them rising above the snow line, is peopled by aboriginal tribes called the Leu, who are practically independent. The Paris ventures upon the assertion that Hainan is one of the most fertile islands in the world, and this is in the main true. Sugar is cultivated to a considerable extent, and forms an article of export, as does also ground nut oil. The cocoa nut tree grows freely, and sufficient rice is readily raised for local consumption. Only a comparatively small portion of the island is, however, under cultivation, the remainder being covered with jungle, which it requires great care to keep from encroaching on the reclaimed land bordering upon it. If the country were developed by Europeans the soil would be found suitable for most kinds of tropical produce.

Hardwood abounds in the island; indeed, no soft wood is apparently available, so that the woodwork of the houses is of solid hardwood, much of it well dressed and polished, which gives them a rich appearance.
Pigs are largely reared for export to Hongkong, and cattle are abundant, beef forming the principal animal food of the people. Tallow is one of the chief sources of profit in cattle raising in Hainan, and the hides and horns are also brought to market, so that the flesh is the least important item from a commercial point of view. The bones are also used as a fertilizer. As to the extent of the mineral resources of the island there is not much reliable information. Gold is known to exist, and mining was carried on to some extent a few years ago, until the superstitious fears of the people compelled the stoppage of the work. Copper also exists and was formerly mined at one point, but the mine ceased, in killing about a hundred men, and since then it has not been worked.
The chief products of the interior, brought to market by the aborigines, are rattan, deer horns and sinews, dried mushrooms, fragrant wood, and hides, but the primitive manner in which the trade is carried on prevents its attaining any considerable development. In the neighbourhood of King-chow, the chief city of the island, of which Hoi-chow is the port, there are many indications of a past prosperity which the present does not equal, but the Rev. B. C. HENRY, to whose narrative of his travels in the island we are largely indebted for the facts here stated, met with several flourishing towns between the coast and the country of the aborigines, and the general impression he gives is that the people are fairly prosperous and well-to-do.

The inhabitants of Hainan are divided into several races. There are of course a large number of Chinese, but these are divided into three or four classes, the Hainanese, who are the descendants of colonists from the neighbouring mainland; Hakkas, who are again divided into two branches known as the Old and New Hakkas; and a number of Cantonese settlers, most of whom are found in the towns, carrying on the bulk of the trade. The Hainanese or native Chinese are a feeble inferior race, but the Hakkas, who occupy a rich and attractive part of country, are an energetic and vigorous people, who some years ago gave a great deal of trouble to the Government by rebelling against it. Mr. HENRY says of these people:—
"The thrift and enterprise of the Hakka emigrant from the north is well illustrated in the history of the colony in the interior of Hainan. About one hundred and twenty years ago two Hakkas from the north-east of the province came to Hainan and pushed their way into the interior. In the neighbourhood of the great hill Sha-ming they found unoccupied land, well adapted to farming and grazing. They took up their residence there and soon began to prosper.
After a few years they sent for their families, and the report of their good fortune induced others to follow, until a goodly settlement was formed. From this small beginning they have spread in numbers and in the acquisition of territory, until they occupy wholly or in part, a district some forty miles in length by fifteen in breadth. Their number is said by some of their leading men to be about 20,000." Another race, who are known as Lois, have a dialect of their own, and though they are surrounded by and mingle freely and intermarry with the Chinese, are evidently a distinct people. They dress somewhat like the Chinese, but in stature, features, and speech they are very unlike them. Mr. HENRY thinks the most plausible theory to account for their presence in the island is that they are descendants of the Minos, brought ages ago from the highlands of Kwangtung and Kwangsi to act as mediators between the Chinese and the wild aborigines of the interior. The aborigines of the interior, who are called Leu, are again divided into tribes, nearly all of whom inhabit the mountains, in whose fastnesses they have been able to successfully maintain their independence against the Chinese for nearly two thousand years.
Mr. HENRY penetrated into the country of the Leu, and gave a good deal of the people.
He gives a very favourable account of them, having found them strictly honest and simple-minded, little addicted to vicious habits, like the Chinese on their borders. He was struck with the fine physique of many of these people. "Some were small, it is true, but most of the men would measure five feet nine and ten inches in height and were well proportioned, many of them with moustaches and slight beards. Their features were rather square; their noses not so flat as the Chinese, and their eyes of a different type.
The women were a fair counterpart of the men, several being decidedly handsome." They are much more robust than the Chinese dwellers in the lowlands, and Mr.
HENRY attributes their healthy condition to a simple diet, clear fresh water, and light airy houses. They tattoo their faces, arms, and legs. They know nothing of a central worship or flag-staff, and are apparently well adapted to no particular superstition. From a foregoing account it will be seen that the Chinese really only hold the territory along the coast, and that the mountainous interior is peopled by a hardy race who are more or less hostile to them.

A cricket match will be commenced on Friday, at 2 p.m., and continued on Saturday, at eleven a.m., between teams from the West of Clock Tower, as will be seen from the advertisement on our front page.

H. M. S. Chelonia, Captain Hingley, arrived at Amoy on the 23rd instant from Hongkong.

The British steamer Willet left the Kowloon dock on Monday. The British steamer Willet leaves the Aberdeen dock to-day.

At a meeting of the Justice's yesterday a writ of Habeas Corpus was granted to Mr. G. Stansfeld for the house known as the Hotel d'Univers.

We note by Australian papers received yesterday that the Chelonia arrived at Brisbane on the 26th November from the steamer Willet.

From Manila papers we learn that the Governor of Manila paid a visit last month to the Sultan at Angkor, and that a satisfactory conference took place.

The annual distribution of prizes to the pupils of St. Joseph's College will take place on Saturday afternoon, at the College, and the Governor has promised to preside. Proceedings will commence at half-past three o'clock.

According to the Comercio, the proprietors of the Manila tramway, in view of the large traffic on the line and in order to conduct the service with greater regularity and rapidly, are thinking of substituting electric cars for the present cables, and they also expect to effect a considerable saving.

From the Mail of London we learn that the American ship Albatross, which was last seen on the coast of Florida, has been sighted at Manila on the 2nd instant by the steamer Willet. The hull of the wrecked vessel has been sighted at Cebu on the 10th, and the cargo of sugar for $30.

We have received from the Agents (Messrs.
Fry, Dalrymple & Co.) of the Guardian Fire and Life Assurance Company a very neat and tastefully got up calendar for 1894 issued by that Company. An Almanac issued by the London and Provincial Fire Insurance Company, which has been forwarded to us by the Agents, Messrs.
Adamson, Bell & Co.

We understand that, in reply to a telegram of enquiry, the Governor has been informed that Her Majesty's Order in Council, formally authorising the alterations in the Legislative Council, may be made at any time, and that the alterations may be made at any time, and the alterations may be made at any time.

The Writing on the 24th ultimo, says:—The body of the late third officer of the steamer Albatross was found in amongst the rocks near the wreck of the steamer, and the body was found in amongst the rocks near the wreck of the steamer, and the body was found in amongst the rocks near the wreck of the steamer.

Referring to the Eastern and Australian Steamship Company, the South Australian reports:—"In view of the Company's increase of business, the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is to be named the Albatross, the other the Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line.
One is to be named the Albatross, the other the Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is to be named the Albatross, the other the Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question
of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent increase in collisions it has been determined to
build two new steamships, and the Government is in process of considering the question of the acquisition of the colonial line. One is
to be named the Albatross, the other the
Willet. In consequence of the recent in-

EXTRACTS.

QUEER STORIES.

WHY THE HON. MARMADUKE LEFT THE BLINHEIM.

When Jack Harwood heard the story which his cousin, pretty Mrs. Anisole, unfolded to him, it seemed almost incredible, though he knew what a foolish, impulsive girl she was. But her cousin's distress convinced him that she was in earnest.

"Do you really mean to say that Carruthers is so mad as to refuse to return the letter?" he exclaimed, in amazement.

"I assure you I almost went on my knees to him the other night at the Boreford's ball," returned Mrs. Anisole, excitedly. "But he only laughed in his mocking way, and said he should keep it as a curiosity."

"Was that after you explained the circumstances?" asked Jack.

"Oh, yes! I made a clean breast of my foolishness. It was humiliating, but it was the only thing to do."

"What did you say to him?"

"I was perfectly outspoken. I said I had had a quarrel with my husband, who had insisted on my writing to request him to discontinue his attentions. I fully intended to do so, but when I sat down with the pen in my hand for the purpose, I was seized with a foolish impulse to vent my indignation by a dangerous practice—Jack, I mean to harm, and nothing was further from my mind than to send off the letter I wrote."

"I wonder you thought your husband capable of reading a letter addressed to a third person," said Jack, rather sharply.

"I am perfectly sure that if I had been in his jealous mood, and had even an unsealed letter addressed by my wife to an admirer lying about, I should have read it," said Mrs. Anisole, with conviction.

"Anyhow, your husband did nothing of the kind," remarked Jack, with a shrug.

"No! I discovered afterwards, to my horror, that he simply sealed up the letter and posted it thinking it was the letter I had promised to write," said Mrs. Anisole.

"Then why on earth did you undecide him when you found out what he had done?" inquired Jack, a little contemptuously.

"Because—because—well, the truth is I felt ashamed of myself. Had I trusted myself, I could not bring myself to confess my error," said Mrs. Anisole, with embarrassment.

"Besides, I thought I should have no difficulty in getting the letter back from Mr. Carruthers. I knew I should meet him the next evening at the Boreford's."

"I suppose he was disagreeably surprised at your explanation," said Jack, with a laugh.

"Well, I found myself in a very difficult position," answered little Mrs. Anisole. "He declined to believe me, and—pretended to think I really felt towards him all I had said in the letter. I had to speak very plainly—in fact we quarrelled—and he almost threatened to make use of the letter."

"The little devil!" exclaimed Jack, vigorously. "Did you really expect that you would—wait very compromising?"

"I am afraid so," said Mrs. Anisole, rising in great agitation and unfolding her writing-desk. "I have endeavored to recall word for word what I said. I think this is correct."

Jack Harwood took the letter which his cousin handed to him and read as follows:

MY DEAREST MARMADUKE,—My husband has ordered me to write and forbid you the house. Since he refuses to trust me, I will no longer endeavour to stifle my feelings, but will avow myself now and ever—Yours own

Jack had no occasion to express his dismay and disgust at this wantonly foolish libelation, for his expression caused his cousin to break into a torrent of a flood of lamentations which—

"What a paper you tears."

"It is the letter I really intended to send; but, of course, it was no sending it after the other had gone," returned Mrs. Anisole.

"May I see it?" said Jack, who was straight enough—said Jack, after glancing through it.

"I really intended to carry out John's wishes," added little Mrs. Anisole, again having recourse to her pocket-handkerchief.

"Well, now, why did you send for me?" inquired Jack, in a matter-of-fact tone.

"I want your advice and assistance, Jack," returned his cousin, rising up. "I did not know who else to apply to, and I have already regarded you as a brother. I am dreadfully afraid Mr. Carruthers has been begging about the letter."

"Surely not. No man calling himself a gentleman could behave so foolishly," said Jack, with a shrug.

"What makes you think so?" inquired Jack, sternly.

"I hope it is not the case, but Mrs. Richardson hinted to me last night that her husband had heard something unpleasant about me and Mr. Carruthers at the club," said Mrs. Anisole, plucking nervously at her dress.

"What at the Blenheim?" said Jack, frowning.

"Yes, Mr. Carruthers is a member, you know. But, not all that, it is desirable to get the letter back, and you know my husband is, Jack. I really dare not tell him anything about the letter, or he would say to Mr. Carruthers, 'Be careful, and create a scandal,' said Mrs. Anisole. "Besides, of course, I would prefer to keep the matter a secret from him."

"I will try what I can do, Amy, and I need not say I will be careful to avoid a scandal," said Jack Harwood, rising to go. "You had better turn the draft of that unhappy letter. It has done enough mischief already. I will keep the other one," he added, putting it in his pocket.

"Oh! Jack, how can I thank you?" exclaimed his cousin, seizing both his hands in her impulsive fashion.

"In the first place, I have done nothing at present; and in the next, I am going to give you a parting piece of advice, which will probably diminish the warmth of your feelings towards me," said Jack, grimly. "I hope this scrap you have got into, Amy, will be a lesson to you, and will make you more discreet in your conduct. People have talked about you and Carruthers in a manner which was almost insulting to me, and I, to I can tell you, I don't wish to stir up muddy water, but you must remember that a married woman cannot behave like a giddy schoolgirl, and I am bound to say I think your husband had every cause to make a row."

With this highly moral little lecture, which his cousin listened to with a diffident humility, Jack took his departure, feeling a little ashamed of his lameness, yet conscious of having discharged a duty which was imposed upon him by the ties of near relationship. He and his cousin had been brought up together, and he had always looked upon himself as, in a certain sense, her natural protector. He was almost her only relative, and as she had married a man twenty years her senior, who did not understand her impulsive character, she stood somewhat in need of a discreet counsellor. Jack had always fulfilled the office conscientiously according to his lights, but he had felt a sort of delicacy about interfering in her foolish flirtation with Mr. Carruthers, and was heartily glad to be relieved of that delicate acquaintance had terminated.

With regard to the task he had undertaken, the young man felt considerably disappointed. He had expected to find a substantial reward for his labors. For a substantial reward in the shape of Jack Harwood was more than usually gifted with shrewd common sense and business-like capacity. But he had been vaguely conscious that the present emergency required tact and ingenuity rather than the usual blunt straightforward method of conducting affairs. His impulse was to call upon Mr. Marmaduke Carruthers, and insist upon his giving up the letter. But Marmaduke Carruthers was one of those men who inspire more candid natures with wholesome distrust and a somewhat exaggerated notion of their own cleverness. He had a very doubtful reputation, and though entitled to the courtesy of "honourable" by virtue of his father being a Peer, he had the smallest pretensions to that desirable epithet. He was popularly supposed to make a considerable addition to his income by acting as tutor to a fashionable money-lender. Besides, if his cousin's suspicions were correct, Jack Harwood imagined that Marmaduke Carruthers was not the least likely to part with his cousin's letter, simply for the asking. It would have suited Jack's humour to back up his demand by physical force, but by this means he might only create a scandal without attaining his object. Besides, if his cousin's suspicions were correct, and Marmaduke Carruthers had been base enough to boast about the letter, the mischief would not be cured by merely getting it back again.

"It can't be helped. I must dissemble, as they say on the stage," he muttered to himself. "It is really pleasant to have in his hands with a man one is longing to kick. But I've undertaken the job, and I must carry it through for Amy's sake, though it is in my line at all."

So saying he seized his hat, and started to call upon Marmaduke Carruthers at his chambers, which were near at hand. Having reluctantly resolved to try his protestations with a smiling face and an untroubled demeanour, Marmaduke Carruthers welcomed him with the frank appearance of cordiality which he could always assume at a moment's notice. In this particular instance, perhaps, he did not great violence to his feelings, for Jack was old and well, and the maintenance of many years' standing, and the latter had the great recommendation of being the heir to a fine estate.

"Have some breakfast," said the Hon. Marmaduke, when they had exchanged greetings.

"No, thank you, I have just had my lunch," replied Jack, with a forced laugh. "I will take a cigarette, if you don't mind."

"By all means. Light up!" said the Hon. Marmaduke, resuming his seat at the breakfast-table. "I have been up late the last few nights."

"Lost some money, I hear," said Jack, puffing furiously at his cigarette.

"Well, I'm about again now," returned the Hon. Marmaduke. "I had luck at the Phoenix yesterday, so I shall wear off for awhile. What brings you here?" he added, evidently remarking Jack's embarrassment.

"A very unpleasant business, Carruthers," answered Jack, unable altogether to suppress his irritation. "Two heard something about my cousin, Mrs. Anisole, which has rather upset me. I know I have no right to interfere between you and her; that is her husband's business. At the same time, I should be awfully cut up if anything happened."

"My dear fellow, you needn't be afraid," said the Hon. Marmaduke, reassuredly. "Nothing will happen. I thought married people were going a trifle—"

"What?"

"What? You know, I was in an awkward fix. It turned out that the lady had an innocent flirtation as great evidence," said the Hon. Marmaduke, smiling. "I had not bargained for anything more than a platonic friendship. I had always borne in mind that I was a friend of yours and of her husband's."

"Very honorable of you," said Jack, with a peculiar intonation in his voice which might pass for emotion. "I should never have thought my cousin was capable of a grand passion."

The Hon. Marmaduke glanced at Jack, whose expressive face manifested supreme contempt, apparently at his cousin's conduct. "Oh, well, you must understand that I am not boasting, but only defending myself against your suspicions," said the Hon. Marmaduke, after a pause. "If you doubt what I say, I can prove my words."

"How?" demanded Jack, quickly.

The Hon. Marmaduke hesitated a moment, and then produced from his pocket a dainty cigarette case, from which he extracted a letter.

"Read that," he said, throwing it on the table towards Jack, and resuming his meal with rather ostentatious carelessness.

Jack opened the letter with the air of a man who could hardly believe the evidence of his eyes and ears. After glancing quickly through it, he withdrew to one of the windows, and read it very deliberately, while the Hon. Marmaduke continued his breakfast with supreme indifference.

"I say, Carruthers! Will you give me this?" said Jack, advancing suddenly with the letter in his hand.

"I don't think you can ask that," returned the Hon. Marmaduke, rather hastily. "It is the sort of letter which only the 'dy's' knows nothing about, and, of course, he knows nothing about it."

"I should have thought you would have destroyed it," said Jack, looking his companion straight in the face.

"I'm afraid you don't know the world so well as I do, my friend," responded the Hon. Marmaduke, coolly, as he replaced the letter in his cigarette-case. "I wish Mrs. Anisole, for all her coyness, but I must protect myself. When a woman imagines her affections have been slighted, she becomes a dangerous enemy. This letter is my safeguard, and so long as it exists—"

"—she will not attempt to harm me," said Jack, with a shrug.

"But you say you would give it up to her husband," suggested Jack.

"So I would, if she should hear of it. In that case, from what I know of Mr. Anisole, I imagine Marmaduke's wings would be clipped."

The Hon. Marmaduke, with a laugh which betrayed his vindictiveness, hastened to change the conversation, apparently mistaking his temper. After chattering for a few minutes on indifferent subjects, he rose to leave, and then said abruptly:

"Will you authorize me to use my discretion about telling my cousin's husband of this wretched letter?"

"You can please yourself; but, for goodness sake, don't imagine I suggest such a course," said the Hon. Marmaduke, with a gleam of triumph in his eyes.

"Of course not. I cannot sufficiently thank you for this interview," returned Jack, with a faint attempt at heartiness. "Shall you look in at the Blenheim, to-night, in case I want to see you?"

"As likely as not. At all events, you know my address," said the Hon. Marmaduke, laughing.

With regard to the task he had under-

taken, the young man felt considerably disappointed. He had expected to find a substantial reward for his labors. For a substantial reward in the shape of Jack Harwood was more than usually gifted with shrewd common sense and business-like capacity. But he had been vaguely conscious that the present emergency required tact and ingenuity rather than the usual blunt straightforward method of conducting affairs. His impulse was to call upon Mr. Marmaduke Carruthers, and insist upon his giving up the letter. But Marmaduke Carruthers was one of those men who inspire more candid natures with wholesome distrust and a somewhat exaggerated notion of their own cleverness. He had a very doubtful reputation, and though entitled to the courtesy of "honourable" by virtue of his father being a Peer, he had the smallest pretensions to that desirable epithet. He was popularly supposed to make a considerable addition to his income by acting as tutor to a fashionable money-lender. Besides, if his cousin's suspicions were correct, Jack Harwood imagined that Marmaduke Carruthers was not the least likely to part with his cousin's letter, simply for the asking. It would have suited Jack's humour to back up his demand by physical force, but by this means he might only create a scandal without attaining his object. Besides, if his cousin's suspicions were correct, and Marmaduke Carruthers had been base enough to boast about the letter, the mischief would not be cured by merely getting it back again.

"It can't be helped. I must dissemble, as they say on the stage," he muttered to himself. "It is really pleasant to have in his hands with a man one is longing to kick. But I've undertaken the job, and I must carry it through for Amy's sake, though it is in my line at all."

So saying he seized his hat, and started to call upon Marmaduke Carruthers at his chambers, which were near at hand. Having reluctantly resolved to try his protestations with a smiling face and an untroubled demeanour, Marmaduke Carruthers welcomed him with the frank appearance of cordiality which he could always assume at a moment's notice. In this particular instance, perhaps, he did not great violence to his feelings, for Jack was old and well, and the maintenance of many years' standing, and the latter had the great recommendation of being the heir to a fine estate.

"Have some breakfast," said the Hon. Marmaduke, when they had exchanged greetings.

"No, thank you, I have just had my lunch," replied Jack, with a forced laugh. "I will take a cigarette, if you don't mind."

"By all means. Light up!" said the Hon. Marmaduke, resuming his seat at the breakfast-table. "I have been up late the last few nights."

"Lost some money, I hear," said Jack, puffing furiously at his cigarette.

"Well, I'm about again now," returned the Hon. Marmaduke. "I had luck at the Phoenix yesterday, so I shall wear off for awhile. What brings you here?" he added, evidently remarking Jack's embarrassment.

"A very unpleasant business, Carruthers," answered Jack, unable altogether to suppress his irritation. "Two heard something about my cousin, Mrs. Anisole, which has rather upset me. I know I have no right to interfere between you and her; that is her husband's business. At the same time, I should be awfully cut up if anything happened."

"My dear fellow, you needn't be afraid," said the Hon. Marmaduke, reassuredly. "Nothing will happen. I thought married people were going a trifle—"

"What?"

"What? You know, I was in an awkward fix. It turned out that the lady had an innocent flirtation as great evidence," said the Hon. Marmaduke, smiling. "I had not bargained for anything more than a platonic friendship. I had always borne in mind that I was a friend of yours and of her husband's."

"Very honorable of you," said Jack, with a peculiar intonation in his voice which might pass for emotion. "I should never have thought my cousin was capable of a grand passion."

The Hon. Marmaduke glanced at Jack, whose expressive face manifested supreme contempt, apparently at his cousin's conduct. "Oh, well, you must understand that I am not boasting, but only defending myself against your suspicions," said the Hon. Marmaduke, after a pause. "If you doubt what I say, I can prove my words."

"How?" demanded Jack, quickly.

The Hon. Marmaduke hesitated a moment, and then produced from his pocket a dainty cigarette case, from which he extracted a letter.

"Read that," he said, throwing it on the table towards Jack, and resuming his meal with rather ostentatious carelessness.

Jack opened the letter with the air of a man who could hardly believe the evidence of his eyes and ears. After glancing quickly through it, he withdrew to one of the windows, and read it very deliberately, while the Hon. Marmaduke continued his breakfast with supreme indifference.

"I say, Carruthers! Will you give me this?" said Jack, advancing suddenly with the letter in his hand.

"I don't think you can ask that," returned the Hon. Marmaduke, rather hastily. "It is the sort of letter which only the 'dy's' knows nothing about, and, of course, he knows nothing about it."

"I should have thought you would have destroyed it," said Jack, looking his companion straight in the face.

"I'm afraid you don't know the world so well as I do, my friend," responded the Hon. Marmaduke, coolly, as he replaced the letter in his cigarette-case. "I wish Mrs. Anisole, for all her coyness, but I must protect myself. When a woman imagines her affections have been slighted, she becomes a dangerous enemy. This letter is my safeguard, and so long as it exists—"

"—she will not attempt to harm me," said Jack, with a shrug.

"But you say you would give it up to her husband," suggested Jack.

"So I would, if she should hear of it. In that case, from what I know of Mr. Anisole, I imagine Marmaduke's wings would be clipped."

The Hon. Marmaduke, with a laugh which betrayed his vindictiveness, hastened to change the conversation, apparently mistaking his temper. After chattering for a few minutes on indifferent subjects, he rose to leave, and then said abruptly:

"Will you authorize me to use my discretion about telling my cousin's husband of this wretched letter?"

"You can please yourself; but, for goodness sake, don't imagine I suggest such a course," said the Hon. Marmaduke, with a gleam of triumph in his eyes.

"Of course not. I cannot sufficiently thank you for this interview," returned Jack, with a faint attempt at heartiness. "Shall you look in at the Blenheim, to-night, in case I want to see you?"

"As likely as not. At all events, you know my address," said the Hon. Marmaduke, laughing.

With regard to the task he had under-

HONGKONG MARKETS.

As reported by CHARTERS on the 26th JAN., 1884.

COTTON GOODS.
American Drill, 36 yards, per piece	$2.95 to $3.00
American Drill, 15 lbs., per piece	$3.00 to $3.10
Donner Drill, No. 16 to 24, per 100 lbs.	$18.50 to $19.00
Donner Drill, No. 25 to 40, per 100 lbs.	$11.00 to $11.50
Donner Drill, No. 45 to 60, per 100 lbs.	$7.50 to $8.00
Donner Drill, No. 65 to 80, per 100 lbs.	$5.00 to $5.50
Donner Drill, No. 85 to 100, per 100 lbs.	$3.50 to $4.00
Donner Drill, No. 105 to 120, per 100 lbs.	$2.50 to $3.00
Donner Drill, No. 125 to 140, per 100 lbs.	$1.50 to $2.00
Donner Drill, No. 145 to 160, per 100 lbs.	$1.00 to $1.50
Donner Drill, No. 165 to 180, per 100 lbs.	$0.75 to $1.00
Donner Drill, No. 185 to 200, per 100 lbs.	$0.50 to $0.75
Donner Drill, No. 205 to 220, per 100 lbs.	$0.35 to $0.50
Donner Drill, No. 225 to 240, per 100 lbs.	$0.25 to $0.35
Donner Drill, No. 245 to 260, per 100 lbs.	$0.15 to $0.25
Donner Drill, No. 265 to 280, per 100 lbs.	$0.10 to $0.15
Donner Drill, No. 285 to 300, per 100 lbs.	$0.05 to $0.10
Donner Drill, No. 305 to 320, per 100 lbs.	$0.02 to $0.05
Donner Drill, No. 325 to 340, per 100 lbs.	$0.01 to $0.02
Donner Drill, No. 345 to 360, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.01
Donner Drill, No. 365 to 380, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 385 to 400, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 405 to 420, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 425 to 440, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 445 to 460, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 465 to 480, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 485 to 500, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 505 to 520, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 525 to 540, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 545 to 560, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 565 to 580, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 585 to 600, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 605 to 620, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 625 to 640, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 645 to 660, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 665 to 680, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 685 to 700, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 705 to 720, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 725 to 740, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 745 to 760, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 765 to 780, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 785 to 800, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 805 to 820, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 825 to 840, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 845 to 860, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 865 to 880, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 885 to 900, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 905 to 920, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 925 to 940, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 945 to 960, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 965 to 980, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 985 to 1000, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00

COTTON GOODS.
American Drill, 36 yards, per piece	$2.95 to $3.00
American Drill, 15 lbs., per piece	$3.00 to $3.10
Donner Drill, No. 16 to 24, per 100 lbs.	$18.50 to $19.00
Donner Drill, No. 25 to 40, per 100 lbs.	$11.00 to $11.50
Donner Drill, No. 45 to 60, per 100 lbs.	$7.50 to $8.00
Donner Drill, No. 65 to 80, per 100 lbs.	$5.00 to $5.50
Donner Drill, No. 85 to 100, per 100 lbs.	$3.50 to $4.00
Donner Drill, No. 105 to 120, per 100 lbs.	$2.50 to $3.00
Donner Drill, No. 125 to 140, per 100 lbs.	$1.50 to $2.00
Donner Drill, No. 145 to 160, per 100 lbs.	$1.00 to $1.50
Donner Drill, No. 165 to 180, per 100 lbs.	$0.75 to $1.00
Donner Drill, No. 185 to 200, per 100 lbs.	$0.50 to $0.75
Donner Drill, No. 205 to 220, per 100 lbs.	$0.35 to $0.50
Donner Drill, No. 225 to 240, per 100 lbs.	$0.25 to $0.35
Donner Drill, No. 245 to 260, per 100 lbs.	$0.15 to $0.25
Donner Drill, No. 265 to 280, per 100 lbs.	$0.10 to $0.15
Donner Drill, No. 285 to 300, per 100 lbs.	$0.05 to $0.10
Donner Drill, No. 305 to 320, per 100 lbs.	$0.02 to $0.05
Donner Drill, No. 325 to 340, per 100 lbs.	$0.01 to $0.02
Donner Drill, No. 345 to 360, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.01
Donner Drill, No. 365 to 380, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 385 to 400, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 405 to 420, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 425 to 440, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 445 to 460, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 465 to 480, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 485 to 500, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 505 to 520, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $0.00
Donner Drill, No. 525 to 540, per 100 lbs.	$0.00 to $